From: Magellan Healthcare

Subject: New clinical pharmacy program supports member care

Overview

Magellan's new clinical pharmacy program is designed to support medication adherence, close care gaps, and improve quality of care for members.

As part of this program, a clinical pharmacist may contact you or your office staff with member-specific information regarding their medications.

Outreach may include

- Potential medication adherence concerns
- Identification of potential gaps in care
- Opportunities to streamline polypharmacy regimens

What providers should know

The goal of this program is to provide timely, useful information that complements the care you already provide.

Any recommendations or clinical information shared is intended for your review and consideration based on professional judgment and the individual needs of the member.

Contact method

The clinical pharmacist may contact your office by phone or fax.

Magellan appreciates your collaboration and your commitment to delivering high-quality member care.
